

Call for papers

"The Economics of Tourism; Prospects and Policy Implications"

Special Issue of

"International Journal of Tourism Policy" (IJTP)

<http://www.inderscience.com/browse/index.php?journalID=200>

The impact on tourism of current world events such as the global financial crises, the ageing population in Europe, sustainability of health care systems, availability and cost of oil, rising public and private debt, environmental and quality issues associated with tourism have been analysed from the sociological, management, environmental and hospitality points of view. Little analysis has been carried out from the Economic perspective. This special issue will consist of papers that explore these and other issues from this perspective and the anticipated publication date is towards the end of 2010.

This special issue will be guest edited by Professor Pasquale M Sgro and papers should be submitted electronically to him at sgro@deakin.edu.au.

The usual double-blind reviewing process will be followed, so please remove all forms of identification from the paper when submitting.

Papers should be submitted in pdf form although if the paper is accepted, the publishers will require a non-pdf copy of the paper.